

Insurgent Communities

Insurgent Communities: How Protests Create a Filipino Diaspora

Zapraszamy na otwarte seminarium naukowe IEiAK (w języku angielskim), na którym gościmy Sharon Quinsaat (Grinnell College, USA).

We invite you for an open seminar at the Institute of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology, at which we will host Sharon Quinsaat (Grinnell College, USA).

Przydatne informacje Link do strony wydarzenia: spotkanie online [1]

Miejsce: IEiAK UW, Żurawia 4, SALA 13

Data rozpoczęcia: 09-12-2024

Godzina: 16:30

The meeting will have a hybrid form - those, who are unable to join us in Warsaw (4 Żurawia St), may use the online option (link [1])

In her talk sociologist Sharon M. Quinsaat sheds new light on the formation of diasporic connections through transnational protests. When people migrate and settle in other countries, do they automatically form a diaspora? In Insurgent Communities, Quinsaat explains the dynamic process through which a diaspora is strategically constructed. She looks to Filipinos in the United States and the Netherlands—examining their resistance against the dictatorship of Ferdinand Marcos, their mobilization for migrants' rights, and the construction of a collective memory of the Marcos regime—to argue that diasporas emerge through political activism. Social movements provide an essential space for addressing migrants' diverse experiences and relationships with their homeland and its history. A significant contribution to the interdisciplinary field of migration and social movements studies, Insurgent Communities illuminates how people develop collective identities in times of social upheaval.

Bio:

Na skróty

- Dyskusja
- Katalog biblioteki

Sharon Quinsaat is a scholar of social movements and migration and currently Associate Professor of Sociology at Grinnell College. She has conducted research using both qualitative and quantitative methods and published on a wide range of topics, including migrant conservatism, diaspora formation, transnational repression, news frames and discourses on immigration, women's international nongovernment organizations, coalition-building in the World Trade Organization, and movement against free trade. Her work has been funded by the National Science Foundation, the National Endowment for the Humanities, the American Association of University Women, the American Philosophical Society, the Russell Sage Foundation, the Midwest Sociological Society, and the Association for Asian Studies and has been recognized by the American Sociological Association, the Association of Asian American Studies, and the International Studies Association through research paper awards. She has published her research in in edited volumes and peer-reviewed journals such as Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies, Mobilization, Ethnic and Racial Studies, Mass Communication and Society, Sociology Compass, and Asian Survey.

Adres URL źródła: <https://www.etnologia.uw.edu.pl/aktualnosci/insurgent-communities>

Odniesienia

[1] <https://uw-edu-pl.zoom.us/j/95136959584>