

policing

Poland: Policing Women, Policing Minorities

Agnieszka Kościńska

[1]

Wydawnictwo: Social Research: An International Quarterly [2]

Rok wydania: 2024

Tytuł / księgi / czasopisma: "Social Research: An International Quarterly" vol. 91 no. 4

Polecamy najnowszy numer "Social Research: An International Quarterly", a w nim artykuł prof. Agnieszki Kościńskiej

The departure point for this essay is the massive 2020 pro-choice protests following a ruling by Poland's Constitutional Tribunal that restricted access to abortion. The essay analyzes police violence during these demonstrations, which was mostly directed at young, urban, middle-class women, and draws attention to changing

Na skróty

- Dziury
- Katalog biblioteki

Polish attitudes toward the police and their brutality vis-à-vis notions of class, gender, race, and ethnicity. In the preceding 30 years, there had been many cases of police brutality in Poland, mostly targeting minorities, migrants, and working-class men, but these had been ignored by the Polish public. Only after police violence was directed toward young, urban, middle-class women did the Polish public finally start to take notice.

Artykuł jest częścią numeru monograficznego pisma "Social Research: An International Quarterly", organu The New School for Social Research (wydawca Johns Hopkins University Press), pt. Policing, w której: <https://www.socres.org/post/914-winter-2024-policing> [3]

Dostęp do artykułów z komputerów na UW lub przez BUW: <https://muse.jhu.edu/issue/54137> [4]

Adres URL źródła: <https://www.etnologia.uw.edu.pl/institut/publikacje/policing>

Odniesienia

[1] <https://www.etnologia.uw.edu.pl/institut/publikacje/policing>

[2] <https://www.socres.org/>

[3] <https://www.socres.org/post/914-winter-2024-policing>

[4] <https://muse.jhu.edu/issue/54137>